4 Armies Hem Nazis in Trap

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 22 (AP) — Four Allied armies, in slicing offensives gaining up to 10 miles, rolled disorganized Germans back upon the bridgeless lower Seine river today, fashioning a vast new pocket between Falaise and the American bridgehead flung over the river northwest of Paris.

Canadian, British and American armies struck eastward in this enveloping push, and the U. S. Third Army crunched in from the other flank in a drive toward the sea. The heavily-bled German Seventh Army struggled frantically to pull across the looping Seine river by boat.

Front dispatches declared the enemy was so disorganized he had been unable to make any co-ordinated stand or to launch strong counterthrusts.

The Third Army was hitting westward and northward from the bridgehead at Mantes 25 miles northwest of Paris. There it could strike also above the Seine into the rocket gun Pas de Calais coast.

The Canadian First Army advanced four to 10 miles on a broad front between the sea and Argentan.

Belgian units took Cabourg on the Dives estuary, 16 miles across water from Le Havre.

Dutchmen fought in the outskirts of Houlgate.

British troops, gaining 10 miles, seized Gace, 15 miles east of Argentan. The American First Army also was pounding in toward the Seine.

Germans trapped in the new pocket were surrendering "by platoons," a Canadian officer declared.

Thirty thousand prisoners had been taken in the Falaise trap, with thousands more throwing up their hands. The dead were yet uncounted. Pocketed Germans had been virtually wiped out.

Front dispatches said Field Marshal von Kluge presumably had pulled out a large part of his forces, but they were by no means saved as yet.

"They have taken a thorough shellacking, and they know it," said one U. S. officer.

Supreme headquarters gave no news of the bridgehead at Mantes-Gassicourt, or the one southeast of Paris near Fontainebleau, where U. S. forces were only 30 miles from the historic Marne.

The Germans lost 30 tanks and 16 planes trying to protect forces fleeing north of the Seine above Mantes, front reports said. The Americans strengthened their grip there, and patrolled southeastward toward Paris. Substantial gains were scored southwest of Paris.

Reports that French patriots were seizing city after city in central and southern France, including Lyon, gave clear indication the Gestapo - dominated German high command was capable of offering organized resistance to the Allies only in northwestern France.

In the area of Dreux, 45 miles southwest of the heart of Paris, Patton's troops tightened their flank positions against the Germans, shoving them back toward the sea and the Seine. The Germans had thrown up flank protection and were fighting vigorously along the Avre in that area.

FRANCE—Smashing through the bridgehead across the Seine at Mantes, American forces are forming another trap for retreating Nazi forces, while the Canadian Army moves on a broad front between Argentan and the sea, capturing Cabourg, 16 miles from LeHavre.

Allies Cut Last Toulon Escape

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ROME, Aug. 22 (AP)—French troops of the Seventh Army have fully encircled Toulon by land, cutting the last escape route for German garrison forces still resisting inside the fixed fortifications of the big naval base, Allied headquarters announced today.

American troops swept steadily westward to the northwest of Toulon in a drive which, unless halted, soon will isolate Marseille, France's second city. French forces were within eight miles of Marseille on the east.

Still other American spearheads on the east reached points 60 miles inland and headquarters announced the Allied grip on southern France had been expanded to more than 2000 square miles—an area more than double that of the beachhead late last week.

A substantial extension of Allied territory was reported on the north with American troops capturing the towns of St. Julien and Barreme in the Basses Alps, 35 and 43 miles northwest of Cannes.

Maj. Gen. Patch in an order of the day to all his Seventh Army declared:

"The enemy in our area is perplexed and stunned. Except for his coastal defense forces he is in full retreat.

"I therefore call upon every officer and every man, regardless of fatigue or possible shortages of food and equipment, for uninterrupted continuation of their maximum energy and endurance so that the enemy may not have time to recover."

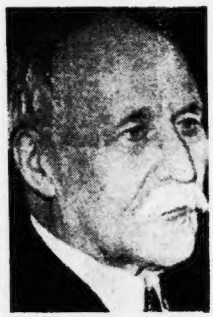
Rebuild Siegfried Line for Big Battle

LONDON, Aug. 22 (INS)—The London Daily Mirror quoted Stockholm reports today as saying 100,000 German slave laborers were reconditioning the Siegfried line and building new fortifications, indicating the Nazis were preparing to make a major stand along the line.

Aged Petain, Aides Arrested by Gestapo

By FRANK BRUTTO

GENEVA, Aug. 22 (AP)—German secret police arrested Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, French "chief of state," at his residence in Vichy and took him to an "undisclosed" destination, advices from France said today.



MARSHAL HENRI PETAIN
Arrested by Germans

The 88-year-old marshal, hero of Verdun in World War I and head of the German-dominated Vichy government of France since 1940, was reported seized Sunday with a number of associates.

The French underground reported the Maquis were attacking Vichy at about the time of the seizures, had actually taken parts of the provisional capital and were arresting collaborationists.

The Gestapo action seemed to indicate the Germans placed no trust in Petain, who was arrested so swiftly he was not given time to shave.

(A Swiss radio broadcast said Petain "was able to write a short letter of farewell, copies of which are circulating in France.")

Pierre Laval, Vichy "chief of government," was reported installed in Belfort near the German frontier—a city once considered an anchor of the old Maginot line.

The German-controlled Vichy radio said the Vichy government had been transferred to another site, not identified. French frontier reports said 20,000 to 30,000 German troops were moving northward from southern and central France toward Belfort, where it appeared the Nazis were determined to defend a gap leading to the Rhine.

Allies Take Over All of Florence

ROME, Aug. 22 (AP)—Florence has been completely occupied by Allied troops, Eighth Army patrols are pushing beyond the famed art center's northern outskirts, Gen Alexander's headquarters announced today.

Explaining delays in ousting last enemy opposition from the northern edges of Florence, the Allied command said:

"Had the Eighth Army forced its way into the city . . . street fighting would inevitably have broken out. Unless the enemy decides to engage the city with long range artillery fire the city will rapidly return to normal."

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Aug. 22 (AP)—Two reconnaissance planes carrying 14 members of the Royal New Zealand Air Force were missing today on a flight from Fiji to New Zealand.

Japs Ask Victims To Aid in Crisis

By the Associated Press

Japan's foreign minister, Shigemitsu, has called on east Asia's subjugated peoples to support a "war of life or death" against Allied forces pressing in from every direction.

Crushing defeats in the Marianas and New Guinea, plus hard blows from submarines and Superfortresses, prompted his speech.

The Jap cabinet met and discussed Sunday's two Superfortress raids on the Japanese homeland, Tokyo said.

New American air blows hit from the Kuriles north of Japan to Halmahera, 3500 miles to the south, softening the way for new invasions.

Gen. MacArthur declared "the battle for air supremacy of the Moluccas is rapidly approaching conclusion." Supremacy would ease invasion of the Philippines.

To the northeast, Yap island, Tokyo said, was raided by 20 Allied aircraft yesterday.

Adm. Nimitz announced that Yap was hit Saturday by Central Pacific bombers for the first time.

Truk in the Carolines, Pagan and Alamagan in the Marianas, two atolls in the Marshalls, Paramushiro in the Kuriles, and lonely Nauru island near the Gilberts, were other air targets.

Japan poured more strength into its Hunan offensive against unflagging Chinese resistance.

Russians Fight on German Soil

By NATALIA RENE

MOSCOW, Aug. 22 (INS)—Front dispatches were quoted by the government newspaper Izvestia today as saying that Russian patrols are operating inside East Prussia in the first penetration of German soil by any Allied force since the beginning of the war.

Soviet mortars and machine guns were reported firing across the border from an advanced area.

Izvestia added that "gunners weren't the only ones to strike German territory. It was being thoroughly combed by patrols going out on the river side of the border road."

There was no indication of the point at which Russian patrols crossed the border, but mention of the river side of the border road hinted it might have been along the Biebrza river, where Russian forces have been driving for the East Prussian rail center of Lyck.

Meanwhile, Red Army legions, sweeping across a 21-mile stretch of the Bialystok-Warsaw railroad, cracked the main German defenses northeast of Warsaw.

Other Russian forces, however, were forced to yield the Latvian rail town of Tukums, 33 miles west of Riga, in what the Soviet communique described frankly as a retreat.

More than 50 towns and villages were taken by Russian troops who advanced one to six miles across the vitally important railroad between the Polish capital and the Bug river.

(The Polish telegraph agency, quoting an underground broadcast from Warsaw, said the city's main telegraph exchange was captured yesterday by underground troops after a seven-hour battle in which all of the German defenders were either killed or taken prisoner.)

See Victory Near, Won't Flee Robots

LONDON, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Nazis plastered London and the southern counties with flying bombs throughout the night as rescuers dug by the light of flares for victims of yesterday's heavy robot attacks, which took a tragic toll of life and property.

Despite severity of the attacks, government efforts to persuade non-essential persons to leave the London area continued to meet with a cool response, due to a growing conviction the end of the war is near.

Sheds Soldier, Weds Teacher

Florence Stetson Grower of Waban and Dr. Louis Albert Pipes, 28-year-old Harvard instructor, were scheduled to say their "I do's" at Reno, Nev., today, only a few hours after the bride-to-be had won divorce from Mason H. Grower, Jr., of Arlington, now a U. S. soldier in Georgia.

The 27-year-old Mrs. Grower charged cruelty and she and Grower each waived property rights of the other.

The young Harvard teacher, who returns to classes in Cambridge next month, took out a marriage license immediately after the divorce was granted.

News of the romance came as no surprise today to his mother, Mrs. David S. Pipes of Massachusetts ave., Cambridge.

"My son and Mrs. Grower have been friends for some time," she said.

"He left for his summer vacation in June and has been doing research work at the California Institute of Technology, where he was graduated. I am very happy for them both."

Pipes, who was born in Pasadena, Cal., taught for one year at the University of Wisconsin before coming to Harvard three years ago as an instructor in electrical engineering, and author of several books.

Mrs. Grower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Stetson of Waban, married Grower in 1939. She attended Lasell Junior College and Hamilton Business College, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Scituate Harbor Drugstore Burns

Pinkham's drug store at Scituate Harbor, one of the last places 10-year-old Frances McGrath visited June 10 before she disappeared and was brutally murdered, was destroyed by fire today.

The adjoining bowling alley, where the girl last was seen alive, was threatened but was undamaged.

Cause of the blaze was not determined immediately. The stock was a total loss.

Firemen used gas masks because of the burning chemicals.

The fire was discovered shortly before 5 a. m. Unable to salvage anything from the store, firemen confined their efforts to preventing spread of tre blaze.

Papal Secretary Of State Is Dead

ROME, Aug. 22 (AP)—Luigi Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state, died last night at Casoria, near Naples, after an illness of several weeks.

He was 67 years old.

Vatican officials said death resulted from neuritis.

He had been a cardinal since 1935 and papal secretary of state since 1939.

ON TROOP TRANSPORT TO ENGLAND (delayed) — The British Admiralty can sue me if they wish, but I am on an American troop transport for the first time in seven wartime voyages. All previous ones have been English. And the present revelation is HAPPY. Not that I mean to slur our gallant ally for the sake of any spreadeagled patriotism. It's just blunt fact. This is a floating hotel as compared with marine boarding houses!

So our ship is sweetly antiseptic as a hospital ward, with no malodorous whiffs of clogged sewage or untidy housekeeping — and still this boat has sailed the seven seas for many years. It is manned by the U. S. Navy. That's why!

We, too, are crowded to the gunwales. Yet every soldier has his own bunk, and space to stow his gear. This time there are no huddled forms sleeping in the companionways and hoists. And most important of all, every man chows thrice daily on calory-rich and palatable foods, instead of two-a-day messes, which the British chefs dished out like feeding time at the zoo.

COFFEE IS GOOD, TOO

A truthful newsman should report that there is no British-style chuck wagon grub in evidence here—no pink pork, or rubbery potatoes, or fried eggs like the deceased eye of giant Cod fish, or pale coffee.

And what is it, do you suppose, that the English cooks do on their lease-lend transports which carry our G. I.'s to the wars? They draw the same lend-lease rations as do our own U. S. ships, and yet it mostly comes out of their kitchens soggy, gray, tasteless and swimming in goo.

I like the English, and respect their valor, but facility with food is just not one of their virtues, according to our culinary standards. So say I.

So here we are again on the vasty deep, and isolated amid encircling mists like being packed in cotton wadding. The summer seas are level as a Kansas prairie. Except for the twin ripples which diverge from the ship's prow, there is no sense of motion, and hence no nausea among the troops.

N. E. MEN ON BOARD

The fogs suggest the hazy future of these men in army mustard—young manhood pointing toward the uncertainties of an unseen future. Most of them were yet unborn when the last war ended—lads just entering the vestibule of life when war detained them by their coattails.

Such ones as Cpl. Roger M. Hall of 63 Richmond st., Brockton, whose brother Harry, Jr., is now on Italy's big boot, and whose dad, Harry, Sr., conceals his anxiety as a pressman for John Murray Co.

And S-Sgt. Wallace G. Rae, of 1 Cottage ave., Needham, a mess sergeant, who learned the Ab-abs of comestibles in his father's Dedham Cafe (Quintan and Rae's) and who is parted from his two-year bride, Edith (McCoy).

These and the rest of our shipboard fellowship are part of America's most precious cargoes, another transfusion of human corpuscles being fed into the vital U. S. bloodstream of war—men and more men.

40 Flee Fight In Street Car

A wild street car battle between a soldier and a sailor in Dudley st. terminal over attentions shown a woman passenger ended today with the Military Police taking quiet charge.

The soldier had been annoying the woman when a Negro sergeant warned him to behave himself. This brought trouble and a Negro sailor stepped in with fists swinging.

While 40 passengers, many of them women, fled to safety the soldier and sailor fought on until police arrived and took the soldier to the Dudley st. station. There the woman refused to lodge charges and the soldier was given over to the Military Police.

LT. MARIE C. KELLEHER
Normandy Bride

So. Boston Girl First France War Bride

South Boston claims today the first American war bride in France!

They're saying over on Telegraph st. that it's the Irish lass in their five-foot-two Marie Kelleher that carried her safely over half the world as lieutenant in the Army Nurse Corps and gave her the courage to follow her fiance to the fighting front of Normandy for their wedding July 6.

At midnight with the sound of guns and roar of fighter planes around; with an Army tent for a church; an American flag hanging behind the cross; flowers picked by Red Cross girls on the home-made altar, and GI blanket for a kneeling cushion, she became the wife of a brave Army Corps pilot.

The 28-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Kellener of Telegraph st. graduated from Waltham Hospital and was with the first nurses to go overseas in September, 1942.

Around Africa, up through the Red sea and Suez, she was working at a hospital established on the Egyptian deserts where the temperature stayed around 135 degrees, when she met her S/147 pilot, Lt. Ralph P. Janes, 28, of Minnesota.

He has taken part in bombings all over Europe, was flight leader of the first squadron to go over France on D1Day and is now evacuating the wounded from France to England.

Marie wrote home that it was like an answer to her prayers after a pilgrimage she made to the Holy Land, when she was sent to England and became engaged there.

Through the Red Cross, she located him when she went with the invasion forces to France, and here is a bit of the letter received today by her parents.

"Yes, the Lord looked after us and we are married. Father St. Onge, a Josephite from Brockton, married us. The tent was packed with people, but quiet as a church. We had three days of heaven.

"We took a little trip to Bayeux and saw an 11th Century cathedral. Well, your daughter was the first American bride here.

"Pray hard for us both that we may be home together soon."

Air Force Ousts 3 News Writers

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—Three American war correspondents and one artist accredited to the Ninth Air Force in France have been ordered out of that theater of war "apparently because their work has not measured up to standards set by publicity-minded Ninth Air Force officers in the higher ranks," the New York Herald Tribune said today in a copywrighted dispatch.

The correspondents were Stanley Frank of the New York Post, Gordon Gammack of The Des Moines Register, Lee McCardell of The Baltimore Sun, and John Groth, artist for Parade.

"The order is the aftermath of a long series of threats indulged in by certain public relations officers of the Air Force," Herald Tribune Correspondent Jack Tait wrote. "Correspondents have been told they must confine the bulk of their activities to coverage of Ninth Air Force news. Those who did not, it was made clear, would have to seek reassignment elsewhere."

The order was signed by Col. Robert Parham, in charge of the Air Force's public relations, and contained no explanation for the action, the newspaper said.

Rabbit Starts Battle in France

By HAL BOYLE

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN FRANCE (Delayed) (AP)—Pet rabbits help while away feeble boredom.

A one-eyed rabbit named "Butch" started a battle all by himself.

"Butch" is the Army's champion patrol rabbit. He has been in German lines oftener than most frontline doughboys. He snuggles in the pocket of his new-rom owner, Sgt. Lawrence Swain, 21, squad leader of Vernal, Utah.

During one black night recently, Swain was creeping along a hedgerow on patrol when "Butch" crawled out of his pocket and went AWOL. "Butch" nibbled a few spears of grass and then decided to rejoin the patrol squad. Suddenly he hopped on Swain's neck.

"Scared?" said the sergeant, "I jumped and emptied a full clip of ammunition in the air. I didn't know what had hit me."

The firing startled Germans nearby and they swept the area with rifles and machine guns. This led the Americans to think the Nazis were attacking and the Americans began throwing metal, too. Swain and his rabbit found themselves in the middle of the scrap.

Since then, "Butch" sticks pretty close to his owner.

3-Power Parley Dooms Old League of Nations

By LEON PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (INS)—The International Security Conference swung into its second session today, with indications the beautiful white marble buildings on the shore of Lake Geneva would be abandoned, together with the name League of Nations, to shake off the atmosphere of failure which still clings to the old league.

With opening ceremonies through, the security conference got down to its working program, going into secret discussions on an organization for keeping the peace after the war.

Delegates representing the United States, Britain and Russia will discuss proposals for the post-war security blueprint in the first phase of the meeting, expected to last about three weeks.

American, British and Chinese representatives will then engage in a second round of talks.

Representatives of the Big Three were optimistic about the discussions which were opened with a warning from Secretary of State Hull that a peace organization backed by force must be devised.

Officials at the meeting acknowledged the League of Nations establishment at Lake Geneva would be abandoned in deference to two countries which have unhappy memories of the League—the United States and Russia.

The U. S. never joined the League, despite the fact President Wilson initiated the idea. Russia was denied admission to the League until 1934, after Germany had left it, and was expelled in 1939 when Soviet forces invaded Finland.

Such a move will not be made, however, without considerable opposition. Officials of the League of Nations Ass'n today said:

"To abandon the present establishment of the League would be a terrible mistake."

Myrna Loy Gets Mexico Divorce

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Motion Picture Editor, International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 22—Myrna Loy today was granted a divorce from John Hertz, Jr., advertising man.

Myrna Loy

The decree was issued at Cuernavaca, Mexico, on charges of mental cruelty. Just before Myrna went to Mexico she confided to this writer that she was getting a divorce but requested that nothing be said until the decree was granted.

She was married to Hertz in 1942, and they separated this year. During the two years she was married she retired from the screen, but recently returned to Hollywood to resume her "Thin Man" role of Nora, opposite William Powell.

She was granted a divorce from Arthur Hornblower, Jr., M-G-M producer shortly before she married Hertz.

Urge Dewey to Fire First Gun in Maine

ALBANY, Aug. 22 (INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is being urged to open his speaking campaign for the presidency in New England, possibly in Maine, it was learned today.

The Republican nominee, however, has given no definite assurance that he will accept the suggestion despite recent assurance from New England leaders that he has a good chance of sweeping all of those states in November, with the exception of Rhode Island.

Gov. Dewey, so far, has announced the date for only two of his major speeches, one in Philadelphia Sept. 7 and another in Louisville Sept. 8. When those dates were announced, however, it was not stated that the Philadelphia talk would be the first speech of his campaign.

Horace A. Hildreth, Republican candidate for Governor of Maine, told Gov. Dewey that he would carry Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

Gov. Dewey is expected to make a three or four-day tour of New England during the fall, regardless of whether he speaks in Maine prior to Sept. 11. One of his major talks will be delivered in Boston.

Members of the governor's staff said today that he is receiving much mail as a result of his views with respect to postwar security.

Gov. Dewey is in close touch with John Foster Dulles, his personal representative on foreign policy, as the latter outlines the Republican nominee's views on world peace to Wendell L. Willkie, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, members of the U. S. Senate and others.

French Oust Wilting Nazis

IRUN, Spain, Aug. 22 (AP)—Border dispatches told of the collapse of German resistance in one city and town after another throughout Central and Southern France today as French Forces of the Interior pressed a campaign to rid their country of the invaders.

There still was no confirmation here, however, that the vital Nazi bastion of Toulouse, 60 miles north of the Spanish border, had fallen. Toulouse was reported to have a Nazi garrison of 3000 troops, mostly fanatical SS (Elite Guard) forces.

French patriots were said to be firmly astride all railroads and highways over which Germans in the Bordeaux area must fight their way to get through to the Reich.

Uniformed officers of the French Army took possession of the International Bridge at Hendaye last evening in the name of the French Committee of National Liberation, thus completing French occupation of the entire Pyrenees frontier.

Goodluck Kisses Foul Powder Bags

BARABOO, Wis., Aug. 22 (AP)—Inspectors at the Badger ordnance plant rejected a number of powder bags bearing mysterious red stains because, they said, chemical action might foul the ammunition.

Today it was found the stains were lipstick. Girls who filled the bags would seal them with a kiss for their boy friends at the front, murmur, "Get me a Nazi," and pass them along the assembly line.

"Save the kisses," plant officials ordered.

15,307 Lose Jobs On War Order Cuts

The first effects of the cutback on war orders was revealed today with the announcement by the state labor department that weekly payrolls fell off $1,084,926 last month with an accompanying reduction of 15,307 workers.

For the week of July 15 the payroll was $21,137,292 compared with $22,222,218 for the week of June 15.

In the same period workers in 2081 plants surveyed dropped from 504,589 to 489,282.

At the restaurants around town today, people were grab bing quick cups of coff-e and rushing to work with blan expressions on their faces.

At the same time, a few others were having their morning coffee at the Blood Donor Center on Boylston st., and they went to their day's work with a good look in their eyes.

Indeed, there were only a few at the Center. The only persons who showed up were those who had suffered greatly and lost their loved ones.

The sight of one man sitting alone over his coffee, when there should have been hundreds with him, was enough to shame all citizens into giving their blood in the nation-wide drive to rush plasma by plane to our men in Europe.

He was Alfred Leveasseur, 37, of Partridge st., Somerville.

For 30 years he has suffered from infantile paralysis. His shoes are built up. He wears braces and carries crutches. He works seven days a week at the Navy Yard and with one day off month, helping the riggers ther He gave his seventh pint of bloo today.

His Contented Smile Lands Maine Youth in Law's Grip

Unlike many workaday folk who complain they toss and turn "for hours" before they can get to sleep, Henry Cyr, 17, of Biddeford, Me., can doze at will. Yet, gift though it may be, Henry's ability to snooze landed him in the police lineup today.

Police had found him curled up in an automobile near North Station. It was broad daylight. There was such a blissful expression on his face the officers imagined he was at peace with himself. Considering this a suspicious state of affairs indeed, they shook him awake.

He refused to tell them what made him look so contented. Away to a cell he went.

In the lineup he told the secret of his happy expression whil sleeping.

He had not only broken out the South Wyndham, Me., ja where he was doing nine month and 23 days for carrying a gu said Henry, but he had lifted $26 from a jail guard in the process.

Then he had sped to New Yor for a moderate fling on Broadway. But the need of an automobile oc curred to him, so he went to Bid deford, stole one and drove to Boston.

He had parked near North Station for a refreshing nap, unaware how suspicious police become when they see a snoozer smiling in his sleep.

Henry said he would waive extradition.

Curfew Traps 9 Teen-Agers

Nine roving youngsters, ranging from 10 to 18 years of age, were picked up and scores of others were driven off street corners early today as police stepped up the drive to break up Boston gangs and put a stop to juvenile crime.

At the same time, squads of special officers toured the city's hideaways in search of a 15-year-old Roxbury girl, known as "The Queen," who has eluded police ever since a warrant was issued last Saturday for her arrest in connection with an attack on a Merchant Marine seaman.

The girl, reported to be the lure for a young Roxbury gang now under arrest, several times has been reported in Scollay sq. but on each occasion has vanished before arrival of police.

Nine boys brought in by officers in downtown Boston all were held until arrival of their parents. Police then reprimanded the parents and gave warning of future action if the children were found wandering the streets again.

One of them, a 12-year-old Roxbury boy, was found to have been missing since July 7. Picked up on Washington st., he told officers he had been hitch-hiking and begging meals. He was so dirty his mother hardly recognized him.

Five youths, ranging in age from 13 to 18, were taken in by police of the Warren ave. station after residents of the South End telephoned they were touring the district picking fights. The boys were held for two hours and later released in the custody of their parents.

A 14-year-old Brookline boy was picked up on Boston Common and later turned over to his mother.

Two other boys, 10 and 12 years old, were found on Bromfield st. and taken to the Milk st. station when they said they were stranded on a hitch-hike trip from Poland, Me., to their home in Weymouth.

Most of the activity centered in the Back Bay division, scene of the murder and robbery of ex-Marine John Prunty for which five boys, four of them under 15, are being held.

Acting Capt. John J. Walkins told his men no youngster was to be permitted in the Fens area late at night.

The city-wide order to round up juveniles out at night without their parents was issued by Police Commr. Sullivan, who assigned a score of policewomen to aid flying squadrons of police.

Teen-age youngsters of both sexes were stopped in the Back Bay, Roxbury, Dorchester and Brighton districts and also were held for arrival of their parents.

Meanwhile, Acting Capt. Walkins said his men were looking for four other girls besides the elusive "Queen." They are sought for questioning in connection with the gang-beating and robbery of Harold Weiler.

Trio May Force Hitler to Resign

LONDON, Aug. 22 (INS)—A rift between Hitler and his Nazi party chiefs has placed the German leader in a delicate position and it is believed he may be forced to resign in the near future, according to reports from Germany quoted in the Geneva newspaper Courier de Geneva, a dispatch to the London Daily Mail said last night.

Among the Hitler opposition, according to the Courier account, are Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler, Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, propaganda minister, and Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering.

Tension was said to be acute among Nazi leaders and sensational events are expected momentarily, the dispatch added.

Mme. Chiang's Health Improving at Rio

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 22 (AP)—Mrs. Chiang Kai-shek, undergoing a rest cure here, has shown slow but steady improvement in her health, the Chinese embassy announced.

Her two Brazilian physicians said it would be several months before her recovery will be complete.

Jitterbug Dance To Be Refined

CHICAGO, Aug. 22 (AP)—America is stuck with the jitterbug dance routine and it cannot be killed or ignored, says a spokesman for the nation's dancing teachers. But, she says, teachers are trying to refine it.

Dorothy Donelson, convention manager of the National Ass'n of Dancing, said some of the violent gymnastics had been taken out. But not before teachers all over the country had ruined their dispositions and arches trying to figure out substitute steps for such practices as tossing partners overhead.

"As long as we have jive music and juke boxes the American kids are going to dance what the music indicates," Miss Donelson said.

PATROLMAN TO RETIRE

Patrolman Patrick J. Dervin of the Hyde Park station, veteran of almost 25 years on the force, will retire Sept. 7, Police Commr. Sullivan announced today.

HE CAME HOME—Pvt. Edward Mickle, 19, comes home to Cambridge on furlough after being wounded in the fighting at Anzio . . . and brings with him a picture (top) of the girl he married at Oran, North Africa. She's the former Cecile Esterhima, 20, and is awaiting government permission to come here.

Day's Short Stories

What a Bombing!

ADELAIDE, Australia, Aug. 22 (AP)—The bomb bay doors of a U. S. plane accidentally swung open and cascaded a shower of champagne and beer, eggs and oranges on startled Adelaide residents today.

The heaven-sent cargoes, still crated, smashed through roofs and knocked down fences, but no one was hurt.

One happy fellow salvaged two bottles of burgundy, but most of the potables were smashed. One case of beer tore down part of a lemon tree and took a six-foot section out of a fence.

Anti-Mosquito

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Navy has developed a new type of Canton flannel glove designed to discourage mosquitoes without causing undue perspiration or interfering with the use of firearms.

Moved to Sue

GARY, Ind., Aug. 22 (AP)—Mrs. Evelyn Wise, literally moved to sue for divorce, charged in a complaint in superior court she and her husband, John, and their two children, had 18 different addresses in three years.

Gangway!

ELKHART, Ind., Aug. 22 (AP)—Police Officer John Geeris, arresting a 17-year-old driver, said he shooed pedestrians off a sidewalk, drove his car up over the curb, and bought a sack of popcorn at a stand without getting out of the automobile.

5 New Blue Ration Stamps Valid Sept. 1

WASHINGTON, AUG. 22 (AP)—Five more blue stamps for buying processed foods—G5 through L5 in Book Four—will become valid Sept. 1, the Office of Price Administration said today. They will be good indefinitely.

ambush, like predatory beasts. But these men seem to have an abiding faith in their own imperishability, as is the way with all youth. They take no notice.

RAILROAD BATTALION

There is a unique unit on board, a railway shop battalion recruited under sponsorship of the New England railroads, and commanded by Lt. Col. Emil G. Ringberg of 395 Broadway, Cambridge, who used to superintend the car repair shops for the B. & M. at Concord, N. H., and sends home boxcarts from abroad, to wife Lucile, and daughter, Virginia, the latter a scholar at Mt. Ida College in Newton.

There is a treasure-trove of Boston men in this outfit, which after handling the big bull engines of the B. & M. and New Haven, will soon be tinkering with the tough little puny whistle, toy trains of Britain. Men like Sgt. Francis J. O'Rourke, of 17 Freising st., Jamaica Plain, former yard conductor for the New Haven, who is doing the same thing, at one-fourth the salary. (He's grateful for his brave furlough with mother, Mary, last April 5.)

And Pvt. Carl Robart, of 112 Epping st., Lowell, who worked for the B. & M. as a pipe fitter, beside his machinist dad, Arthur, in the Billerica shops, and awaits his daily news rations from Irene Asquith.

Speaking of mail, there's PFC James Ivers, Jr., of 18 Allen st., Boston, mother B. & M. er, who worked for Bill Mochrie, and used to sip his brew in Johnny Head's munch-and-gargle parlor near the North Station, until wife Florence (Serio) removed him from cafe society July 4, '42.

EMERITUS BRAKEMAN

And Pvt. Mager Greenough, of 5 Dalin pkwy., Salem, an emeritus B. & M. brakeman, who is doing it for Uncle Sam for $60 a month and whose sire, Clarence, takes the Kennebunk Ltd. out of North Station every morning, and who relishes the weekly allotments of fudge his mother, Minnie, mails, and a powerful morale item that!

And Pvt. Walter "Red" Nolan of 29 Teele ave., Somerville, B. & M. "spare run" brakeman, under Charley Came, who is the fifth of Nolan brothers in service—Charlie (photo-rec.) in England, Frank (quartermaster), Kevin and Alfred (both Fortress gunners in the U. K.).

First law of all American soldiery is to learn to improvise. Second law is "We live today; tomorrow never comes." So between formations and chores, the troops have transformed the fore deck into an impromptu theater, where men cram the hatches, mount superstructures and stanchions in one solid, mustard-colored mass, while an ex-burlesque clown, sans his fright wig, putty nose and hammy externals of the skin operas, makes Minsky all the day.

VOLUNTEER TALENT

The talent is volunteer, the jokes salty corn, the music go-as-you-please blurts, the patter Joe Miller. But it is like fun among the field mice, any crude jape spreading convulsions along the deck like a brush fire. For these are laughing men, oblivious to the menace in the surrounding waters.

Men such as Pvt. Arthur Lynch of 23 Waldo st., Manchester, N. H., who chaperoned freight cars through the B. & M. yards, and sends a wave across the miles, to Dad, Frank J., the station baggage master, and Mother Margaret, who has a way, he says, with mincemeat turnovers.

And Capt. Ray D. Richards, of 111 Dunklee st., Concord, N. H., (formerly of Lowell), who worked with Jack McKinnon as a store purchaser, and carries the photo of wife, Marion A. (ex-Billerica) and daughters, Elizabeth R. (10) and Virginia, (8). And Lt. Stanley H. Foskett of 40 Chestnut st., Danvers, who worked in the B. and M.'s "Mech.-Eng." Dept. for 21 years, under boss Lawrence Richardson, and likes to dream of the evenings spent in his wood-work shop at home, with wife Helen, and daughters, Frances (4) and Elizabeth Ann (3).

And Cpl. John J. McNulty of 35 More st., Chelmsford, a B. and M. Shop helper at Billerica under Fred Mulvey, who played first base for the high school when "Lis" Lupien, the ex-Red Sox first sacker, coached there.

And Sgt. Roland L. Croteau of 554 Dubuque st., Manchester, one of nine brothers, who worked in the B. and M.'s Concord plant.

And PFC Charles Tanger of 3 Bent ter., Quincy, a Fore River coppersmith, who now operates a locomotive's entrails for the R. R. unit.

And Capt. Leonard A. Walsh of 420 Harvard st., Dorchester, former supervisor of wrecking for the New Haven.

And Lt. Julian J. Klein, of 131 Washington st., Brighton, ex-production supervisor at the New Haven's Readville shops.

And finally, Sgt. John Goldrick, Jr., of 111 Holyoke st., Malden, a former New Haven machinist, under boss Jim Croke, who is cultivating an Edward VII blond beard.

Big Job to Greco Of Kick-Back Fame

Charles R. Greco, the architect who testified to "kicking back" large sums of money to Cambridge officials out of fees he received for work there, has been awarded a contract for suggestions how the State House should be renovated after the war.

The award was made by the Emergency Public Works Commission, which estimates repairs will cost at least $350,000.

Greco's contract calls for him to make a survey of the State House, then submit plans and specifications for execution by contractors.

He would be paid on a percentage basis.

Greco had no competition for the job, according to informed sources.

Greco was chairman of the State Art Commission until 1941, when he was a witness in the bribery trial of Mayor John W. Lyons of Cambridge and Paul Mannos.

The architect testified that out of his $63,000 fees in a $2,000,000 building program he had turned back $13,000 to Mannos and $8000 to Mayor Lyons.

Later, Greco's resignation from the art commission chairmanship was disclosed by the action of Gov. Saltonstall in nominating Dr George E. Edgell for the post.

Chairman of the emergency public works commission is Henry Lefavour of Boston, former president of Simmons College.

Its members include Charles P Howard of Reading, Middlesex County treasurer and former chairman of the State Administration and Finance Commission; Edward B. Richardson of Brookline; Robert L. Whipple of Worcester, former state purchasing agent, and Paul W. Foster, ex-officio member, now chairman of the administration and finance commission.

His Out-ing

HAVANA Aug. 22 (AP)—A Havana druggist posted the following sign on his door this week:

"Out of ice cream; out of sherbet; out of cigarettes; out of gum; out of films; out of stamps; out of patience; out of town!"

His customers also knew his soldier son was home on furlough.

New Guinea Show Bob Hope Gives

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Aug. 22 (INS)—Comedian Bob Hope's USO party flew into Hollandia today from Sidney, Australia, and gave the first "live" artist" show yet staged at this forward base.

More than 10,000 soldiers gave Hope, Jerry Colonna, Frances Langford and the rest of the troupe a tremendous reception.

At a second show, for amphibious engineers, famous sports figures met Hope. Among them were Amateur Golf Champ Bud Ward, Chicago Bears Owner Lt. Com. George Halas, Sportswriter Sgt. Henry McLemore and Corp. Chester Robertson of Oklahoma City.

South End Man Held In Assault Death

After paying a $200 fine in municipal court yesterday on charges of illegal sale of liquor, Antonio Zizzarelli, 50, of Shawmut ave., South End, was arraigned today on charges fo manslaughter and assault and battery.

Zizzarelli pleaded not guilty. Charges were lodged after death in City Hospital last night of James Melihan, 66, of Dwight st., South End. Judge Davis B. Keniston ordered him held in $5000 and continued the case for a week.

Police told the court Zizzarelli claimed Melihan had spoken insultingly to his wife on Aug. 13, that he said he struck Melihan who fell, sustaining a fractured skull.

Man Appeals Fine, Jail in Lottery Case

Charles Interbartolo, 39, of Saratoga st., East Boston, was given a $500 fine and a three-month jail term in municipal court today on lottery charges. He appealed and Judge Devid B. Keniston ordered $1000 bail.

Interbartolo was arrested in Hanover st., North End. More than 100 slips and a large sum of money was found on him, police said.

Rep. Padden Urges Women on Juries

By FRANK REILLY

Opponents of the movement to permit Massachusetts women to serve on juries are reactionaries who were born 100 years too late, Rep. John T. Padden of Hyde Park, an outstanding Democratic member of the State Legislature declared yesterday.

Pledging his support of such legislation, to be considered at the 1945 session of his body, Padden called upon the Democratic party of Massachusetts to live up to the liberal principles upon which it was founded and give the movement its united support.

Rep. Padden

"Women," he declared, "have given loyal and unselfish service to the Massachusetts Democratic organization. The party has a sizable delegation in the House of Representatives and in the State Senate.

"This group, supported by liberal Republicans, could make jury service possible for women.

"It is difficult to understand why such recognition was not extended to women long ago.

"Twenty-nine states now have women serving on juries. Experience has shown that women jurors have proved themselves fully as able and as unemotional in reaching verdicts as have men giving similar service.

"It is the duty of the members of the Massachusetts Legislature to extend such recognition to women at their 1945 session."

VFW Head Asks World Alliances

CHICAGO, Aug. 22 (AP)—Carl J. Schoeninger, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, today asked the VFW to support "foreign policies which will permit the United States to participate in alliances with other peace-loving nations to suppress future threats of aggression."

Other "fixed, fundamental principles" which Schoeninger asked the 45th national encampment to approve were:

"Vigorous insistence that combat veterans of this war should be included in the delegation which represents the United States at the peace conference.

"Demobilization procedure based on this priority: Combat disabled veterans physically able to return home; combat veterans with the longest period of service overseas; other overseas personnel; those with the longest period of service within the United States; those last inducted."

Love? These Lads Just Send It Home

By HUCK FINNEGAN

ENGLAND—Marriages between U. S. soldiers and girls of the British Isles are mounting, but that doesn't disturb the equanimity of Pvt. Henry Rohrman, 28, of 38 Collins st., Bristol, R. I. "The dog faces are scrambling for girls now," said Robbins. "Let 'em. I got mine long ago when I had my pick of a million."

Rohrman, it develops, spent two years in Ireland and Scotland doing electrical construction work for the Fuller Co. "I was over here before the U. S. entered the war," he declared, "and I could afford to be choosey. I was.

"My prize was Bridget Friel of Donegal, and I brought her back to the States with me when I returned in April of '43. She's living with my folks (John and Emma) in Bristol. They're crazy about her."

Rohrman was inducted into the Army (engineers) last August, has been over here only a few months. ("Miss her? 'Course I miss her. Let her know I'm in good health.")

THINKS OF COOKIES

Toll House cookies were on the mind of Herbert E. Bryant, 34, of 35 Mill st., Westfield. "My wife, Robertine S. Shaw of Indian Orchard, makes 'em better than anybody else in the world. Funny how you think of little things like that, isn't it?"

Robertine Shaw Bryant is working for the Mass. Mutual in Springfield while her hubby is overseas with the engineers. "Send her my love," says Bryant, former cutter in Westfield's Old Colony Envelope Co.

Pvt. Peter A. Sciarra, 31, of 128 Greenwood ave., Waterbury, Ct., was thinking of the meatballs and spaghetti his wife (Palma Garafola) used to dish up to him. ("If I could have 'em once a week, this wouldn't be a bad Army.")

BAKES BEST BEANS

Pvt. Alphege Nault, 26, of Bumps rd., Centerville, married Vivian Kelley, a townie, and says Vivian's mother bakes the best beans in the Bay State. "Used to have 'em Saturday night, and boy, I miss them."

He misses Vivian, too. "June," he reflected. "Long summer nights on the Cape. We' dbe pitching woo about this time." Nault was a foreman in the comp. room of the Cape Cod Standard Times. His wife is secretary at Oyster Harbors. His mother is dead, his father in New Bedford. ("Send my regards to Halford Houser (publisher) and Dan Gaylord (business mgr.) of the Times.")

Outside of Revere Beach, Pvt. Jerome Goodman, 21, of 55 Sagamore rd., North Weymouth, misses most of all his mother's lemon meringue pie. Jerry was a welder at Fore River for three years before entering the service. Parents: Harry and Sarah.

17 YEARS IN ARMY

Sgt. Kenneth C. Robbins of the medics used to live at 56 Boardman st., Newburyport, "but I haven't been there for 20 years. I've been in the Army 17. My brother is Rev. Burton G. Robbins. I used to pal around with Bill Carter, brother of Olive, the librarian."

Pvt. Harold W. Tilton, Wilton, Me., is homesick and doesn't care who knows it. "I left a wife (Margaret Clark of Auburn, Me.,) and two children, David, 14 months, and Louise, five months. I love them, and miss them terribly."

Tilton worked in the Wilton Woolen Mill before induction a year ago. He has a brother, PFC William P. Tilton, in England, "but I haven't located him yet."

field's Waltham store and wonders who's filling in for him in the pinochle games he used to play with Doc Pastor, Doc Silverstein and Hughey Williams.

To Mrs. Birdie Downing, 111 Cleveland ave., West Newton: "I'll be seeing you soon. Best wishes."

"She worked in the store with me," Maurer was quick to explain as his mates gave him the bazoo. "She's a wonderful lady."

Pvt. Ernest Blair, 23, of 274 Plantation st., Worcester, was an X-ray technician in Detroit before the war and married Gertrude Bailey of that city. "I met her while I was going to U. of Michigan. She's nursing in Detroit now."

Sgt. Rexton Russell, 36, of 18 Quincy st., Portland, Me., was in the Army from '25 to '31, went on the reserve list, and was recalled Feb. 14, 1941.

"I hope this thing is over with in time for the hunting season in the fall," he day-dreamed. "I bagged a 186-pound deer at Kennebago only a year ago."

Russell left behind a wife (Nadia Lamb) and Rexton Russell, Jr., 13. To them: "I'm thinking of you all the time." Parents, Burt and Verna F., live at 263 Cumberland ave.

When Russell isn't thinking of his family, his mind is on "venison steak, my favorite dish."

HE'LL TAKE HOME

London holds no allure for Pvt. Leon Dubay, 28, of 52 South Fourth st., Old Town, Me. "I'll take Old Town anytime," he says. Dubay married Evelyn Miller of Alton, Me., and liked to hunt in Alton's woods. "How do you like her?" he asked, proudly showing a picture of baby Donna, 15 mos.

His parents, Charles and Clara, live at 92 Veasie st., Old Town. To them: "I'll try to write more often."

Sgt. Joseph Meduna, 27, Box 210, Sandwich. "Would like to be on the Cape right now. I missed the fishing for striped bass in the Canal, and I'm hoping I don't have to miss it next spring."

Meduna is married to Adelaide Parks, a Sandwich girl. ("She's working in Buttner's.") To her: "Feeling fine; hope you are."

To parents Charles and Bertha, RFD 2, Mansfield Center: "Nothing to worry about. We'll all be home by Christmas."

Salvage Drive In South Boston

Although first day returns in the city's August salvage drive showed a decrease from July's record high figures, salvage officials today termed the results satisfactory in view of the fact that thousands of families are now on vacation.

As Boston's campaign entered its second day with city trucks scheduling pickups in Wards 6 and 7 in South Boston, salvage leaders reported the city's first five wards contributed 152,850 pounds of paper and 54,480 pounds of tin.

Last month's curb collections in the same wards produced 198,110 pounds of paper and 73,800 of tin.

Tomorrow Wards 11 and 12 of Roxbury and Wards 13 and 14 of Dorchester will be canvassed. Thursday paper and tin pickups will be made in Wards 15 through 18 and on Friday in Wards 19 through 22.

A drawing will be held today by Salvage Director George G. Hyland to determine the winners of the ward bonds in Wards 1 to 5 which were canvassed yesterday. The Boston salvage committee is again awarding a $25 war bond to a paper contributor in each ward of the city.

JVA Youngsters Are Guests Of Red Sox at Fenway Park

Whooping with joy over every Red Sox play but groaning with despair when the Cleveland Indians looked on top, boys and girls of the Junior Victory Army spent a thrilling two hours at Fenway Park as guests of Owner Tom Yawkey, Gen. Mgr. Eddie Collins and Mgr. Joe Cronin.

It was their third year's reward for aiding the home front war efforts.

Many of the youngsters were seeing their first major league baseball game, but scores of others were baseball-wise fans who knew all about the stars.

Supervisors of the staff of City Recreation Director "Bill" Mullen, headed by George Taylor, helped them enjoy the game. Several JVA corps came in units, including the Wildcats of Arlington, the MacArthur Quaker Wing Corps of Revere and the Defense and Aviation Corps of Dorchester.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin, well wrapped in your letter.

Care for Your Throat, Neck Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

THERE USED TO BE a wonderful ad designed to persuade men to buy a new hat rather than clinging to the old battered one . . . it said, "Look at your hat . . . everyone else does."

We're going to say the same to you, substituting "neck" for "hat." Because, after a survey of hundreds of girls and women on the streets and in offices, we are convinced that many of them actually never look below their chins when sizing themselves up in a mirror. And, unfortunately, other people do look at your throat and neck . . . and judge you thereby.

Now, don't flare up and say you scrub your neck and throat scrupulously every day. I don't say it isn't clean, although if you have those ugly creases and coarse skin below the chin the dust and grime settles there by mid-day.

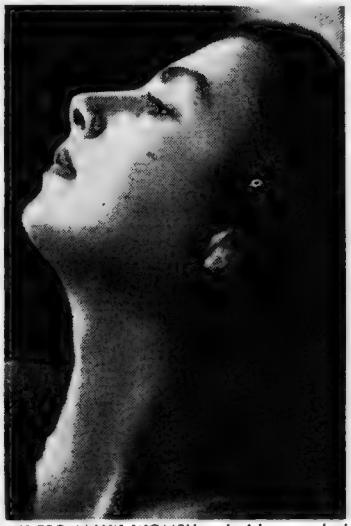
Doubtless you cream your face religiously every night, and use a foundation to protect it against the ravages of wind, weather and dirt. But do you give your poor throat and neck that consideration, or do you attack it hastily and hard with a washcloth and soap . . . and do you ever rinse all the soap off and dry it gently? Do you even look at your throat critically?

If not, do so tonight and tomorrow morning when your make-up is completed. Have you creases in your neck? Is the skin coarse and reddened? Even girls just out of their teens have neglected their throats, and nothing is more ageing. And this fall, dresses are lower cut than ever, more feminine; upswept hair, earrings and necklaces are high fashion, and they all point up a lovely throat or show up an ugly one.

What can you do about it? You can buy a jar of a famous throat cream, lush in quality and apricot in color, and get to work massaging your throat and neck with it nightly. You work it up from the chest, lifting your head strongly upward. The massage will help a double chin, while the cream softens your abused skin and smooths out lines.

You'll see an amazing difference in a short time. And when you have succeeded in getting your neck and throat looking lovely, keep your chin up! Ducking your head not only makes you unattractive but also helps put those ugly creases above your collarline.

I'll be glad to tell you where to buy this cream, and what it costs, if you will phone the Beauty Department, Liberty 4000, or write me, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.



ALL TOO MANY WOMEN and girls never look below the chin after cleansing the face in preparing for business. The right kind of throat and neck cream will work wonders if properly massaged on the ofttimes greasy skin. Tamara Toumanova is a glowing example of what proper care and cream will do for the throat and neck.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Monday—Many things would be accomplished in just a year of national military service. For one, the world would know that we were never again going to be caught unprepared. At all times our young manhood would have sufficient training to protect the nation and to prevent any surprise attacks. Our equipment would be modernized and adequate.

Young men from all the different groups which make up the citizenship of the nation would be thrown together, know each other, and differences in background and environment would melt away in close association. Only a man's character is the real criterion of worth.

EVERY MAN in every nation has always felt that, in time of war, it was his duty to protect his country; and the man who did not feel this obligation was usually looked down upon by his compatriots.

But many people in our country have grown up with far less sense of obligation toward their peacetime citizenship. The statistics on voting alone prove this. You can ask a group of people to name their representative in Congress, and get no reply, showing that we, as citizens, are not aware of the same passionate patriotism which must be devoted to peace as it has been to war.

Perhaps this knowledge might be advanced if a year of service were not purely military, but included a development in the knowledge of conditions within the areas in which training was given, as well as an understanding of government problems in those areas and a sense of having contributed in some way to their solution.

These are things I hope people will think about as they discuss the National Service Act.

Daily Menus Need Careful Selection

FOOD RATIONING doesn't need to be frightening, but every homemaker must learn to make the most of the available food supply by careful selection and preparation for daily menus. There's no single food that can take the place of meat, but it can be combined with other foods and have its flavor extended to them.

Sausage is so full of good flavor that it combines well with vegetables as well as the more bland foods.

Sausage and Vegetable Casserole

1 lb. sausage links
2 tbsp. water 1 onion, diced
½ green pepper, diced
6 pieces celery, diced
1 can tomato soup
2½ cups cooked kidney or red beans ½ cup catsup

Place sausage in cold frying pan. Add water, cover and simmer until water evaporates. Remove cover, increase heat and brown sausage. Add onion, green pepper, celery, tomato soup and catsup. Cover and simmer slowly for 30 minutes. Add beans to cooked mixture and heat.

Scalloped Sausage and Macaroni

1 pkg. macaroni
2 cups medium white sauce
1½ to 2 cups chopped, cooked sausage
½ cup bread crumbs, buttered

Boil macaroni; put in greased casserole in alternate layers with sauce and chopped, cooked sausage. Pour white sauce over top and cover with buttered crumbs; bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) for 20 to 25 minutes, or until crumbs are browned. Spaghetti may be used in place of macaroni. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Here is an excellent way to use ½ pound sausage links to serve 4. All of the delicious sausage flavor goes into this baked dish and helps extend the meat allowance.

Sausage-Apple Patties

1 lb. pork sausage 1 egg
1 slice bread 1 tsp. salt
½ cup grated apple

Combine the sausage and bread, which has been broken into small pieces. Add the remaining ingredients. Make into eight patties. Place on a rack in an open roasting pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 1 hour.

Sausage served with baked, fried or stewed apples has always been a favorite, but combine them before cooking for something unusual. There's an exchange of flavor that can hardly be equalled when sausage and apples are prepared as patties. Together with hot cakes, they make a satisfying breakfast, luncheon or supper menu.

Baked Sausage With Apples and Bananas

8 link sausages 3 bananas
2 apples ¼ tbsp. brown sugar

Prick the sausages and place four in bottom of greased casserole. Core apples, cut them in three rings, and put them on top of the sausages. Peel bananas cut in half and slice lengthwise and arrange over apples. Place rest of the sausages on top, sprinkle the whole with the brown sugar. Cook until apples are soft and the sausages are brown, about 30 to 40 minutes, having the oven around 375 deg. F.

Letters Held Proper Gift

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: The last of June I was graduated from grammar school. I miss my teachers very much, and I would like to send each of them a gift to show my gratitude for their help and kindness to me during the school year. Would this be all right, and if so, what would you suggest I send them? L. S.

There never was a teacher, I'm sure, whose heart was not touched by receiving from a student a letter of appreciation of their "help and kindness." So do write each of your teachers a letter to show your gratitude . . . this will be a real gift to them. Then, if you wish, tuck into each letter a lovely sheer handkerchief, perhaps one with her first name on it, perhaps embroidered with either her monogram or initials.

Cape With Rare Fur

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE LONG CAPE made of precious fur is a very high style for the coming cold weather. This cape is not the old-time cape with billowing fullness, floating all over the place. It is a strict and slender cape with an austere Chinese look to it, and it is a beauty. DeLeo, master furrier, who first introduced this cape, makes it in such furs as ermine and broadtail for evening, and in beaver and mink for general wear around the clock.

It is a wrap that can make about the most effective entrance of any wrap I have seen so far. Miss Dulin has sketched one. This particular cape is made of beaver, and it has a small standing collar and is luxuriously closed tight down the front. The shoulders are broad, but rounded and nonaggressive.

The New Deal Chicken Come Home to Roost

THE NEW DEAL'S current program for international economic salvation, revolving around the recent Bretton Woods agreements, should be evaluated in the light of its past record in this field.

An audit of 10 years of experience with the so-called Reciprocal Tariff pacts shows that they failed to fulfill their flamboyant promises.

Dr. John Lee Coulter, tariff authority and former member of the United States Tariff Commission, now points out:

"Ten years ago, the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act was hailed as a measure to provide employment, stimulate exports, create good will, preserve enduring peace throughout the world, and solve all the economic ills of society.

"Objective study today discloses that, far from achieving these aims, the agreements resulted in just the opposite."

The reduction of tariff rates on more than 1000 items stimulated imports into the United States, making them equal in physical volume during the five-year period, 1935-39, to the imports of this country during the peak prosperity years, 1925-29.

This may have helped employment to some extent in sundry foreign countries, BUT IT DID NOT PROMOTE EMPLOYMENT IN THE UNITED STATES.

On the contrary, during the same five years, exports approached only 80 per cent of the physical volume of exports in the prosperity years, 1925-29. Even so, in the latter period, actual exports were expanded artificially by foreign buying of supplies in preparation for war, and by a system of export subsidies on farm products.

While failing to attain the objectives, the Reciprocal Tariff program, nevertheless, according to Dr. Coulter, cost the United States Government in loss of tariff revenue between $2,000,000,000 and $3,000,000,000.

Whatever their intentions, the rest of the world was in no position to make similar sacrifices of revenue.

Help Red Cross Get Blood

THERE IS not an American in the land who would intentionally refuse to save the life of a soldier wounded in action.

And yet, unintentionally, millions of Americans are doing that very thing.

Blood donations are required in increasingly great numbers to provide the plasma on which all our fighting sons are relying whenever they are shot or injured in battle.

But Americans, forgetting their defenders in the joy of good news from the European fronts, are NOT making the donations.

"People do not realize that the most awful casualties are still to come," says a Boston Red Cross spokesman. "As we dig deeper into Hitler's defenses, the need for blood may be enormous in the next crucial weeks."

This is a tragically unfortunate desertion of the war front by the home front.

Unless it is promptly remedied, and the Red Cross obtains blood in record-breaking amounts, hundreds of fine young men must die unnecessarily.

We appeal to all readers in good health to contact the Red Cross Blood Donor Center, 485 Boylston street, Boston, at their earliest convenience and to safeguard the most deserving of all Americans with their blood.

Washington Scene . . By George Dixon

(Distributed by King Features Syn. Reproduction in Whole or Part Strictly Prohibited.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—This may seem utterly incredible, but my undercover operatives in New York report that the Republican National Committee has at last agreed upon a director of publicity.

The GOP, as you know, has been without a head ballyhoo boy since July 1, when James P. Selvage resigned. The departure of Selvage caught the Republicans utterly unprepared because he did not tell them until May 1 that he was quitting.

The new drum-beater-in-chief, according to my informants, will be Bill Wight. My spies insist they have the name right and that it is spelled "Wight" without any "r" in it, so he can't eat oysters. But they admit—quite shamefacedly, of course—that this is about all they have learned about the gentleman.

They said they had heard that Mr. Wight used to be assistant to a publisher named Godfrey Hammond, but that they hadn't dug up any dope on Hammond either.

I am afraid my spies are not very thorough. I may have to purge a few of them.

ONE OF the hardest-working men in Washington—and I ain't kidding—is Col. Edwin A. Halsey, secretary of the Senate. Col. Halsey had a collapse from overwork last May and has just returned to the job.

Along with many others, I went down to the Capitol to welcome him back, and we got to talking of this and that. It is a wonderful experience to chat with Col. Halsey because he has a fund of information which is near staggering.

Naturally, the conversation got around to the political situation. I say "naturally" because it is considered practically treason for two or more persons to chat for anything over 80 seconds in Washington without bringing up politics.

Col. Halsey made several interesting observations which I shall not repeat, as his job requires him to be rigidly impartial. Then he said:

"A most unique situation has developed this election year. I have made exhaustive research through all our books and records and have been unable to find anything to compare with it in our history. I am certain it is the first time anything of the sort happened.

"In this coming election we have the amazing spectacle of two candidates who can't be separated from the public payroll no matter what happens.

"They will still be employed—win, lose or draw!"

Col. Halsey let this soak in a minute. Then he amplified:

"If Thomas E. Dewey is defeated he will still be Governor of New York and, if Harry Truman gets knocked off he will still be a United States Senator!"

SOMEHOW THE conversation got around to Senatorial repartee, and Col. Halsey said his heartiest chuckle came when Majority Leader Alben Barkley chided a member of the opposition.

Barkley accused the other Senator of trying to obscure the issue. He said:

"The Senator's attitude reminds me of an old clock that my father borrowed from one of the neighbors when I was a boy.

"My father took the clock home and put it on the mantelpiece and it stayed there a week, and he never could tell what time it was. Finally he took the clock back and said to his neighbor: 'What is the matter with this clock? I cannot tell what time it is.'

"The neighbor said: 'Well, I ought to have explained it to you. It is a very curious clock. When both hands point to 12 and she strikes 2, that means it is half past 4!'"

THERE ARE times when I do not believe the evidence of my own senses. Of course, some stickers will argue that this condition should be permanent, but I am treating them with contempt.

What I mean is that I am always so much on the alert for the novel and bizarre that I am sometimes afraid it may carry me away. Consequently I refused to rely on my eyes when a release came in from OPA.

I took it around to various people in the building. They read it, shook their heads in disbelief, and said they must be having eye-trouble too.

Finally, I cornered the oldest living editor, an octogenarian named Waldrop, and said:

"Do you have antagmatasm? Do you see spots before your eyes? Do you ever hear voices that aren't there? You don't? Then read this!"

The hoary old gaffer cleared his throat and read as follows:

"Advance Release: OPA-T-2559. As a result of a financial study made of the shuttlecock industry, an increase of 10 per cent over previous maximum prices for manufacturers of the article is allowed."

Well, I am certainly glad to hear the OPA was able to take time to make a financial study of the shuttlecock industry. It must mean the war is over.

(A Woman's Prayer)

THIS was enclosed in a letter received from an Army wife. "I have found consolation in this prayer," says she. "Perhaps other wives of other fighting men will also" . . . Now we can start thinking about Paris again. I mean, to think of the Paris we like to think about. The last time I saw Paris was on the morning of Sept. 1, 1939. How about you? . . . Paris is 669 miles from Berlin. What is your guess as to the date our boys will march down Unter den Linden?

TRAFFIC: The most complicated traffic intersection I have ever seen is that at the Arc de Triomphe in Paris; 14 streets and boulevards meet at this point. Another busy traffic intersection is that at the Rond Pont on the Champs Elysees; six streets meet here and during rush hours seven traffic cops are required to handle the situation. The Elysees, which is my nomination for the world's most beautiful street, is a mile and a half long.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—What was the name of the actor who played Shakespearian drama behind a net? A—Couldn't say. I have heard there was such an actor, but he was before my time. Q—Did you ever find any twist loaf bread of which you spoke so longingly? A—Didn't find any in a restaurant, but a Brooklyn baker sent me a twist loaf. Good old Brooklyn! . . . Q—Where did Hype Igoe get his first name? A—The "Hype" is a nickname given Mr. Igoe by Tad Dorgan. When Dorgan and Igoe were working together in San Francisco a Negro elevator attendant said to the latter: "Mr. Igoe, you is getting as thin as a hypodermic needle."

From then on Tad called his pal "Hype" and it stuck.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: A matrimonial expert states 80 per cent of American women are cold and unresponsive and that this is chiefly because American men do not understand love. Sounds like the bunk to me. Nevertheless, our Horses & Women Department will check on the observation . . . Between 80 and 90 per cent of U. S. soldiers wounded in action receive first aid within an hour. This has resulted in the saving of so many lives it is now claimed a fighting man has twice as much chance of coming home alive in this war as those who participated in World War I . . . The best city for dogs in the United States is Detroit. The Motor City has more happy pups per square mile than any city in the country. So states a Detroiter.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 22—Sam Goldwyn has a fight on his hands, and boy, how he loves a good fight! He's going to Reno to open his "Up in Arms" today and thereby hangs a story.

Fred Allen

It seems for some years Sam has not been able to show one of his pictures in this town. When he tried to hire auditoriums, ballrooms and other places he was always given some reason why the hall couldn't open—either it wasn't fireproof or the seats weren't chained down, or the floor wasn't right.

"There's no doubt," said Sam, "that the squeeze is on for independent producers, and it isn't only in Reno but other towns where I haven't been able to show my pictures. There isn't a big producer who didn't start as an independent. Louis Mayer made his first picture that way; the Warners made 'My Four Years in Germany'; David Selznick is an independent, and I'm going really to wage a battle." And, believe me, he's the one who can do it!

JUST TO SHOW Fred Allen they think he's an all-right guy, when he appears in "Fickle Fortune," the radio's famous trio of comics, Bob Hope, Bing Crosby and Jack Benny, will appear in Fred's picture. Fred and Jack Benny always have one of those make-believe feuds that last forever, and you couldn't think of an Allen picture without Jack doing something. I imagine it's just one of those deals whereby the actors get permission from their studios to walk on and off. Crosby has done this in the Bob Hope pictures so many times, and vice versa.

FATHER FLANAGAN of Boystown has a motion picture protege. Her name is Sharon McManus, age seven, and he's known her family since long before she was born. When she came to California he sent her with a letter to M-G-M and she was given a part in two shorts, "A Great Day Is Coming" and Amber Returns." She was so cute and attracted so much attention that Ralph Wheelwright has given her an important part in "Tenth Avenue Angel," his next picture. Looks like Margaret O'Brien and Peggy Ann Garner have a rival.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Collected at random: Errol Flynn leaves for Mexico again. This time it is to meet his pal, Bruce Cabot, who is there. Bruce, by the way, was exonerated and received an apology when the papers carried the story of a missing brooch; Jean Leslie is still in a hospital; Dinah Shore will be overseas at least six weeks. She will be in England as well as France. She's gone over great with the boys; Anita Colby, who is back from New York, said the Duke of Windsor appeared at the Southampton Beach Club wearing yellow slacks, green ascot and green shoes, and the funny thing was the hostess, Mrs. Mayo, had the identical costume; Quentin Reynolds leaves overseas when he finishes his broadcast stint; Maj. Buddy Adler gets eight weeks' leave and will spend it with Anita Louise; Mrs. Jim Brown, who has been very ill since the birth of her baby, won't be up for another two weeks.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22—Manhattan Glitter: Marlene Dietrich, who looks the way champagne tastes, making the sophisticates swoon at Le Coq Rouge . . . Henry Morgenthau quaffing a mint julep at the Cafe Pierre . . . Mark Hellinger, who just returned from the Pacific theater of war, and Irving Perlin, a recent arrival from Europe, exchanging international gossip on the sidewalk outside the Waldorf . . . John Jacob Astor, with a pretty blonde, eyeing the famous polar bear in the Central Park zoo . . . Evelyn Knight giving a Navy lieutenant a good Knight kiss outside the Stork Club . . . pretty Jane Wyman looking frou-frou divine in a summer print with a ruffled collar on the Leon & Eddie's ringside . . . Jan Struther, as pretty as her own Mrs. Miniver, crossing the curb at 60th and Fifth.

MICKEY LEVINE, the former show girl who just divorced Horace Elgin Dodge and received close to $1,000,000 in the bargain, is dancing at Monte Carlo these nights with Bill Cahill, the real estate lad. She hasn't given up romance, evidently—she asks Dick Gasparre to have the boys in the band play "People Will Say We're in Love" . . . Scallions are sprouting on Sutton, of all swanky places Gertie Niesen has taken to victory gardening with a vengeance, and the terraces of her penthouse on the East River would make a vegetarian drool . . . Gloria Vanderbilt De Cicco is a girl with a whim at the moment. When she and her Fat dined with Robert Ritchie the other night, she spent 20 minutes begging Bob to please do her a favor and ask Kay Francis, the screen siren with the lisp, to marry him. She cited as her reason an irrepressible desire to hear Kay announce herself as "Mrs. Norbert Wichie."

TIMES SQUARE NOTES—Hail the Conquering Hero" is a wonderful, wonderful, wonderful picture. Eddie Bracken is worth five ordinary Hollywood comics, and Preston Sturges should be given a medal . . . It was inevitable, of course, Jane Churchill, heroine of the Dorsey story has been offered $500 a week to sing in a local cafe . . . Sir Cedric Hardwicke has chippered to England . . . Dorothy O'Keefe, cashier at Monte Carlo, is wearing a 4-karat diamond ring, gift of one of the waiters.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 22—Pvt. Mickey Rooney is in town on a furlough and rooming with Gloria de Haven . . . The many "jive parlors" along Hollywood boulevard are getting a big play from the service men . . . John Garfield has been at the Hollywood Canteen doing his special piece of material about the hackie, which he did overseas, and which was written for him by Arnold Manoff . . . PFC Jules Levine forwards this story from the Army Times concerning the Normandy front: "A captured German corporal refused to reveal military information on the grounds that it was contrary to the rules of the Versailles treaty. The interrogating officer replied he meant the Geneva convention, but pointed out that Hitler had denounced the Versailles treaty. 'By golly, that's right,' said the corporal and proceeded to spill the beans about military operations of his regiment on the Normandy front' . . . An item in an out-of-town newspaper tells about the lady who went into a department store and purchased a pair of men's pajamas, sending the jacket to a colonel in India and the pants to an ensign in Iran.

The Club Gala is the place where you will find show people gathering to listen to Frank Walsh sing their favorite songs from favorite musical comedies . . . Frank Sinatra's Wednesday night broadcasts got going in high gear, but what the radio audience didn't hear was the shrieks from the bobby-socks when, before the show started, Frankie boy introduced Mrs. Frank Sinatra to his admirer.

A STUDIO unable to get a suitable ending for a story held a meeting of the executive council and they finally decided to call in a new writer. This writer was told the story and asked to bring in suggestions for an ending. The next day this writer appeared before the council with a suggestion. The big shot, very pleased, shouted: "That's it. It's the thing we've been searching for. And do you know why this writer got it when we failed to do so. He didn't realize how difficult it was." But don't get me wrong. I love Hollywood.

TUESDAY MUSINGS: Although it is of little real importance when our boys are reaching for beachheads on the east bank of the Seine, wouldn't it be funny if Joe Cronin's Red Sox finally had become inflamed with their skipper's fighting spirit in such degree as to win the pennant!

WHEN TEX HUGHSON was lost to the club, the croakers interred the Red Sox, and the interment was complete when the Cronimen failed to win a series with the leading Browns . . . Now the Sox are very much in the pennant hunt again . . . Hughson's loss may have been the unpredictable intangible which set the club on fire . . . All year, the Red Sox have been a one-star team, the star being Hughson, and this despite the valiant work of Deer, Tabor, Johnson, Wagner and sundry others.

WHEN THE LONG TEXAN'S shadow lifted with his going to the real wars, psychologists might place their finger on this circumstance as the inspiring element which lifted the rest of the team from mediocrity, as a unit, to the heights . . . As for us—no psychologist—we are merely reviewing the situation as a pleasing one of great promise for civilian Boston.

COULD THE BRUTALITY of some of the "crime doesn't pay" programs on the radio, coupled with the screeching frenzy of the "hot jick" geniuses of the jive lands have anything contributory to answer for in the genesis of bobby-sock "lures" and drunk-rolling rug-cutters of the male gender? . . . The Russophile Drew Pearson had his favorite foreign country so much on his mind that his tongue vanished Donald Nelson to "Siberia" instead of "China" in Drew's Sunday report of things to come and current happenings.

A Boston veteran professional woman who has been a fixture for years in the public relations departments of class hotels in America gets a nice compliment in the hotelman's gazette for her current work at Poland Spring . . . She is Agnes Grant, formerly of the Fancoast in Florida and the Cavalier in W. Virginia, and now the editor of "The Tower," organ of the Poland Spring and Mansion House, the famous twin Maine resort hostelries.

NOBLE (HARRY) AND KING (FRANCES), who took Boston by storm last winter at the Satire Room, are reported to be a sure fall booking for the Copley Plaza's Sheraton and Oval Room . . . Noble and King have finished a filmmaking chore at RKO, and were a tremendous hit at Hollywood's swanky Clover Club . . . This column's ruminations the other day on Arthur Lee Simpkins, the featured singer at the Latin Quarter, fortunately placed no suspicion on the Simpkins voice or ability . . . We merely questioned the casual habit of night club pressagents in promoting any stray wanderer with a Hollywood background into "stardom," for publicity purposes and as a catchpenny tactic to snare the gullible . . . Well, if Mr. Simpkins isn't yet a star, he can very well turn out to be one . . . His voice is magnificent, and his poise and showmanship superb.

Mystery Walkout Halts Beer Supply

PROVIDENCE — Thirsty folk of this community faced a beer shortage today as drivers of trucks distributing beer from local breweries suddenly quit work, giving no reason for their action. Brewers, whose wholesalers, taprooms, taverns and bars were calling for stocks to replenish supplies badly depleted during the hot spell, said most places had stocks for less than 24 hours. Roderick A. McGarry, business agent for the Chauffeurs Brotherhood, said, "There is no strike as far as we're concerned."

House Approves Jeeps for Veterans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House recognized the fighting forces' love for the jeep, writing into the surplus war property disposal bill an amendment that would permit service men and women, and veterans, to buy this iron-clad midget at "wholesale" prices.

It adopted a proposal by Rep. Miller (R.) of Connecticut, providing that those who served in uniform may buy any surplus item after the war at the same unit price as big lot buyers.

polka dot silk. Her sister-deb, Margaret Thayer of Weston, chose a handsome brown street length formal trimmed with bands of powder blue for her dancing date with Charles Warren Lippitt, 3d, of Providence. She is doing volunteer work at MGH and plans to enter Radcliffe next month.

Just back from a whirl in St. Paul, post deb Jane Nawn tripped the light fantastic in a festive red silk shantung dinner suit buttoned with rhinestone discs. She and her Army escort applauded the Clayton's youthful dancing sensations in the Oval Room. Blonde Andrea Peterson of Wellesley was glamorous in sapphire crepe with colorful navy and orange beading at the neckline.

When the alarm clock rings at the Commonwealth ave. home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Fred Cullen it's a signal for all three daughters to get ready for their jobs. While her officer husband is in the Pacific, Peggy Cullen Huggins (Mrs. Joseph) is keeping busy by working for an insurance company. Jean, who will become the bride of John P. Good of Cohasset next month, is secretary in the copy dept. of an advertising agency, and Lee, youngest of the trio, is an executive assistant in the Red Cross. All three do a great deal of volunteer war work on the side

Off for several weeks of swimming, sailing and golf at the Oyster Harbors Club are Dr. and Mrs. Howard Clute and daughter, Alice of Chestnut Hill. Also vacationing there are Mr. and Mrs. E. Wait New Word From Bulgaria

LONDON, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Bulgarian government of Premier Ivan Bagrianov, apparently thwarted in attempts to get out of the war on any basis short of unconditional surrender and return of annexed territories, was expected to restate its position again today through Foreign Minister Parvan Draganov.

There was some belief in London that Draganov, in a scheduled address to the Bulgarian parliament this afternoon, might even announce at least a limited break with Germany

4 Movie Fliers Lost in Crash

LUKE FIELD, Ariz (AP)—Loss of four airmen in the crash of a B-25 and an AT-6 trainer during an aerial sequence in the filming of the movie, "God Is My Co-Pilot," was announced

Second Lt. Orlando L. Luhr, Phoenix, Ariz., was found dead in the wreckage of the trainer. A search is under way for the bomber which carried three men.

'Last Stop' New Stage Play At Wilbur for Week

By DON WARD

"Last Stop," first of the new fall crop of stage plays, is now at the Wilbur for just this week before going on to Broadway.

Irving Kaye Davis wrote it; Erwin Piscator contrived its single setting, and the producer is Victor Hugo-Vidal.

The locale is a home for aged women. The principal characters are its inmates, varied in personality and disposition, but each and all in the common and pathetic case of the unwanted.

As one of their number, the plain-speaking Mrs. Fitzpatrick puts it, they are "on the scrap heap," waiting for the end, which is certainly a most uncomfortable reminder of a social system that has yet a long way to go to solve the problem of old age.

This bitter realization, eloquently aided by a well nigh flawless cast and Piscator's realistic setting, is the play's chief claim to importance. The rest is an over long and rather clumsy exposition of a melodramatic story of the old ladies' eviction.

Their "home" — ironic misuse of the term!—is sold over their heads and they are about to be herded into a smelly firetrap in another part of the town. The villain of the piece is a smooth, grasping hypocrite who will profit financially by the deal.

murder and a fraudulent deed to the property, thereby saving the day all around, is the burden of the rest of a not too well organized plot.

Catharine Doucet portrays that "villain" with crooning voice and wanton wiles. Others in a remarkable collection of keenly cut character sketches are Frederica Going, Enid Markey, Mary Gildea, Nell Harrison, Daisy Belmore, Laurie McVicker, Mary Perry, Grace Valentine, Augusta French, Eda Heineman and Minnie Dupree.

If it is possible for the infirmities of age to be at all comic leave it to Grace Valentine to let no opportunity slip by. She is the doughty and rebellious Mrs. Fitzpatrick from the soles of her orthopedic shoes to the pugnacious bun on the top of her tossing head.

Score another for Minnie Dupree, who overcomes all hazards and in a brave, if quavering voice, confronts and captures the monster. Give a cheer as well for the 40-odd-year-old house by Piscator. You couldn't tell it from real.

"Last Stop," because of its subject matter, ought to succeed, but it probably won't. Needs an awful lot of crafty tinkering.

Browns Get Jitters as Flag Race Tightens Up

By JACK CONWAY

THE ST. LOUIS Browns, cracking up under the strain of a gruelling pennant race, insist that the Red Sox be given another opportunity to win a championship for Tom Yawkey. The disasters experienced by the Browns against the Athletics and the Senators have put the Sox within four and a half games of the league leaders. Detroit has also moved up in the pennant race, while the Yanks are close enough to the leaders to win if they could hit a victory streak.

The 1944 Yanks, however, lack concerted driving power. They blow up when it appears as if they are about to close in the gap that separates them from the league leading Browns. This is due to the fact Joe McCarthy only has an ordinary ball club this year. It has been good management on the part of McCarthy rather than first class baseball that has kept the Yanks in the first division. McCarthy, the best manager in baseball, has sat back and profited by the glaring mistakes of some of his managerial rivals.

Luke Sewell

Off the cold records I would say that the Red Sox, as flag possibilities, have more to fear from Detroit than from the Yanks.

As for the Browns, they are laboring under a bad case of jitters. A ball club that gets the jitters is likely to bow itself out of a flag race.

Test for Sewell

MANAGER LUKE Sewell of the Browns will experience his most severe test as his club flounders along at the head of the league. He must pull his team together and get it playing on the same high plane that enabled it to secure such a big lead.

Sewell is not a great manager like McCarthy or Connie Mack. He also has had difficulties handling some of his players. While the club was winning the player situation solved itself. There is not anything like victories to restore harmony to a ball club.

It is a different story when a club that has a pennant within its grasp starts to slip. The players have already decided how they are going to spend or invest their World Series money, and they get fighting among themselves when things start going wrong. The second guessers are always on the job to say what the manager did wrong.

Sewell has probably found this out already. His lot will not be an easy one unless he can rally his club and get it winning again.

Sewell has the management of the Browns and the fans in St. Louis to consider as well as his players. The owners naturally want to earn the money that goes with being in a World Series, while the fans are eager to see the Browns battle the Cards.

These conditions will combine to increase the pressure on the jittery Browns and on Sewell. Both may crack wide open under this strain.

Must Keep Fighting

FOR THE Red Sox to win the pennant they must come through on the road, where they will not be aided by a short left field wall like they have at Fenway Park. They must also gain their triumphs despite loss of rest by travel under war conditions.

The Sox must also forget they have lost Tex Hughson, their ace pitcher, and that they will lose other players before the season ends. They must play each game as if the pennant was to be decided by its outcome. They must keep fighting for every advantage and refuse to admit they are defeated until the last man is out.

George Metkovich, Leon Culberson and some of the Sox who were not expected to be great stars have done well in the latest surge by the club. That is what makes championship teams. Bobby Doerr, Bob Johnson, Pete Fox, Jim Tabor and the other acknowledged stars of the club are expected to come through in the right spots. Victory is gained in driving pennant fights when the mediocre players and the virtual unknowns are ignited with the spark of winning and go on to turn in brilliant performances.

Now that the Browns insist on giving away the pennant, I hope the Red Sox will not be too polite to knock them from their present exalted perch. Joe Cronin has the spirit to lead the upward surge. Let his players follow him with 100 per cent effort.

Harvard Loses Great Sport Star

Pvt. Donald W. "Dixie" Richards, 20, of Providence, former Harvard three letter athlete and 18-year-old star of the 1942 Crimson football team, was killed in action in France on Aug. 1, according to word received here yesterday.

The boy, who was well on his way towards becoming one of Harvard's football immortals when the war interrupted his career in his sophomore year, wrote his last letter to his family on July 28 from among the hedgerows of France where he ha dug a foxhole, taken a bath from water in his helmet and felt "at peace with the world."

He was on his way up to the front when he wrote the letter telling of his adventures while using a water can for a desk and a slit trench for a home. At that time he told of watching the planes shuttling back and forth to the front.

WON THREE LETTERS

He acquired his nickname of "Dixie" because of his southern accent. He played exceptionally well in the Brown game, scoring the touchdown that defeated the Bruins.

The following Saturday at New Haven, Richards started play against Yale with a severe leg bruise but in spite of the injury was one of the outstanding players. His 65-yard punt return for a touchdown was the highlight of the game, but an off-side penalty nullified the score, and Yale went on to win, 7-3.

Richards played guard on the Harvard varsity basketball team in the 1942-43 season and that spring was right fielder on the varsity nine. He was the only man of his class to win three varsity letters.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Richards of 147 Lloyd ave., Providence; a sister, Dorothy Jane, and a brother, William R., a senior at Hope High School of Providence.

COLGATE STARTS TODAY

HAMILTON, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—Fall practice for the 1944 Colgate football team will begin today under the direction of Head Coach Andy Kerr and Assistant Karl Lawrence. Milton C. Bruhn, new line coach, will assume his duties Aug. 29.

Joe Cronin Must Juggle His Inept Hurling Staff

By BILL GRIMES

With nine series remaining to be played before his Red Sox draw their final pay checks, Manager Joe Cronin must sink or swim with three starting and two relief pitchers.

After winding up this series with Cleveland today, the Red Sox have a couple of off days before they take on the Athletics in Philadelphia. Then they will move into New York for three days with the Yankees, after which they return home to take on the A's, making a flying trip to Washington for two games with the Senators on Labor Day and will wind up their home stay for 1944 with the world's champions.

Before making their final swing through the West, the Croninmen return to Washington for two days.

For the rest of the year, Cronin will have to do plenty of juggling with his pitching corps. For starting hurlers, he has Emmett O'Neill, Joe Bowman and Rex Cecil. And, so, anything that he opens with any of his other pitchers, Cronin is practically conceding victories to the opponents.

Cronin should have propositioned the armed forces and offered them Judd, Terry, Hausmann and Woods, if they'd allow "Tex" Hughson to finish the season.

11 WINS FOR 4 PITCHERS!

During the four months he was with the Red Sox, Hughson contributed 18 victories to the cause. Judd, Terry, Hausmann and Woods, who have been with the club all season, have a total of only 11 wins, seven less than Hughson won in less time.

The defeats charged against Judd, Terry, Hausman and Woods are what has ruined the Red Sox. Judd lost one, Terry eight, Hausmann six, and Woods seven.

Emmett O'Neill has developed into a winning pitcher during the past month. And, with the cool weather coming, Joe Bowman will have his share from here in. Cecil has been impressive.

O'Neill, who has won six and lost the same number and Steve Gromak will be the starting pitchers this afternoon in the final game of the Cleveland series.

THANKS!—Recognizing the worthiness of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Veterans' Fund, the George Dilboy Post, VFW, of Somerville turns over a check for $596.98 to the drive. Director Fred Russo, left, hands the check to Jack Conway, sports editor, as Post Commander George Taylor and Mayor G. Edward Bradley look on.

Dilboy's Gesture Most Appreciated

By MIKE GILLOOLY

No finer tribute has been paid to the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Veterans' Fund than that of the George Dilboy Post, V.F.W., of Somerville in turning over the proceeds of its amateur fight show last week to this worthy drive.

It wasn't the gift so much as the thought behind it that has made the public sit up and take notice.

It was typical of the Dilboy Post that it should be the first to offer its help in recognition of this drive for gifts for ailing and disabled veterans of World War II. Their fight show, after expenses had been deducted, netted a nifty $598.98 for which these newspapers are very grateful.

Ordinarily, that sum would have been turned over to the drives conducted each year by the Dilboy Post. They have their own veterans' fund and they have their national funds for the Veterans' Orphanage.

They've already contributed $500 to the orphanage and they have their own drive well under way. They've bought a new home for the entertainment of servicemen home on furloughs—a spot where the kids of this war are welcome.

All the members of the post know what it means to be welcomed back. They came back the last time and they can appreciate a friendly hand and good company as much as this new crop of heroes.

So thanks to all the members of the Post.

THANKS TO GENE AND TAM

And thanks, too, to Gene Driscoll and Tam Sheehan of the NEAAAU who donated their services for the night; to Mayor G. Edward Bradley, Joe Zapustas and Jimmy McCarron who worked the night free as referees; to Comdr. George Taylor of the Dilboy Post whose full co-operation was responsible for swinging the program and to Freddie Russo, the clever promoter, behind it all, who has been staging those swell Dilboy Field shows for the past 23 years.

And as Freddie Russo would like to have you all know, there are still the New England junior championships to be held at Dilboy Field, Somerville, Wednesday night, Aug. 30, in ringing down the curtain on a memorable fight season.

Wagner Tops

Hal Wagner, the Red Sox catcher, may not win the war single-handed after he reports to Uncle Sam next Monday for active service in the Navy, but the personable kid will have had the satisfaction of leading the American League boys in batting at one stage of his 1944 career.

A catcher, of course, isn't in there every day. Hal Wagner divides catching duties with the youthful and brilliant Roy Partee. But Hal has been slugging that old pill for the past two weeks. Today's averages show Wagner with the handsome average of .327, two points better than his teammate Bobby Doerr, to lead the loop.

The batting figures reveal what is troubling the Red Sox—it's pitching—as we point out in an accompanying story. Figures show that of all the American League players who have been up to the plate 200 times or more, the Red Sox have four of the leading six batters—Wagner, Doerr, Pete Fox and Bob Johnson.

Tough to see this tremendous hitting power wasted because of weak and inefficient work on the mound.—BILL GRIMES.

Detroit Next Port Of Call for Browns

By Associated Press

Mr. Pepper Pot of the St. Louis Browns, alias Don Gutteridge, won't be in the front row when they count the most valuable player ballots in November but he was the No. 1 man on the ticket today in St. Louis.

The little second baseman from Pittsburgh, Kan., waited until last night to get his annual home run and picked the right spot—in the 12th inning of a 3-3 ball game with Frank Mancuso on base.

Gutteridge hit one homer last year and one the year before. Up to last night in Washington, he hadn't connected for all four this year.

When the ex-Cardinal gave the league leaders a 5-3 victory over the Nats' Mickey Haefner, he gave them a shot in the arm that may shake them out of their troubles.

LOSE FOUR IN ROW

Luke Sewell's men had dropped four in a row, their longest losing streak of the season, and their critics were saying they were due to crack wide open, especially after the 12-1 drubbing in Sunday's second game.

Gutteridge did the job with his homer, but it wasn't the first time he had pepped up the Browns. His work around second had been nothing short of sensational in key games and his spirit had fired the entire ball club.

It was Don, the fellow the Cards demoted to Sacramento in 1941, who offered personally to sell enough tickets to fill Sportsman's Park when doubters worried about the Brownies' drawing power. If the Sewellmen do play the Red Birds, Gutteridge will be one of the toughest jockies.

The 5-3 overtime win that Sig Janucki earned over Washington boosted the Browns' lead to 4½ games as Boston fell before Cleveland, 7-6, in 13 innings when another home run, hit by Mickey Rocco of the Tribe, gave Specs Klieman the relief nod over Mike Ryba.

Detroit, next port of call for St. Louis after they finish their Washington visit tonight, was dropped by New York, 5-1, as Walt Dubiel scattered eight hits effectively for his ninth win. Homers by Hershel Martin and Russ Derry helped send Ruta Gentry down to his sixth defeat.

BUCCS BOOST WIN STREAK

Philadelphia took a 3-2 decision over Chicago in 10 innings with Don Black getting the verdict over Bill Dietrich on Frankie Hayes' base-loaded single.

Pittsburgh's latest win streak mounted to five, and 16 of their last 17 as they trimmed Brooklyn, 7-6, in 10 innings after finishing up a suspended game hanging over from July 9 with a 9-7 triumph.

Ernie Lombardi drove in all four Giant runs with two homers and a single in New York's 4-3 margin over Chicago. Johnny Allen needed relief to grab his third win at Bill Fleming's expense.

The Boston at St. Louis night game was rained out and the Phils and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

Slight Slump Fails To Dislodge Doerr

Bobby Doerr of Boston held tight to the American League batting lead today despite a new challenge from Lou Boudreau of Cleveland but Stan Musial of St. Louis squeezed past the ailing Dixie Walker of Brooklyn in the National's red hot chase.

According to averages through Sunday's games, Doerr was hitting .324 and enjoying a slim four-point edge on Boudreau, who advanced from fourth to second, passing Dick Siebert of Philadelphia and Pete Fox of Boston.

Milt Byrnes of St. Louis grabbed seventh place among the American's top 10 and Stan Spence of Washington took ninth, with Wally Moses of Chicago and Vern Stephens of St. Louis dropping out of the select circle.

Musial topped Walker by one point at .355, but the Brooklyn favorite returned to the lineup on a full-time basis Sunday after 10 days of pinch hitting chores due to an ankle injury. Johnny Hopp of St. Louis at .346 and Joe Medwick of New York at .340 stepped into the title picture with healthy gains.

Tex Retains Old Form

KYLE, Tex., Aug. 22 (AP)—Cecil (Tex) Hughson, whose pitching string in the American League was halted at 18 victories by a call to the Navy, may be a 20-game winner this season after all.

Tex came home to his ranch for a pre-induction visit until Aug. 28 when he's to report. But he slipped off to Houston where a semi-pro baseball tournament is going on, and in his opening game shut out the opposition 10-0, giving up only three hits and striking out 11. Dixie Parsons, slugging catcher formerly with Detroit, was his victim three times.

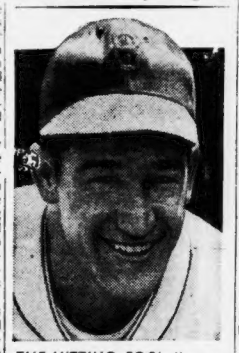
Trains Leaving Hub Suggested to Judd

Joe Cronin took the blanket off Oscar Judd, but he kept it on the bench . . . Judd has spent more time with doctors and specialists than he has on the mound since a year ago last month . . . He sat out the last three months of the 1943 season and his record for this year is a win over the Browns by a wide margin something like eleven runs and a defeat by the Indians in Cleveland . . . He had appeared in not more than three other games as a relief hurler until he condescended to start yesterday's game.

Apparently Cronin hasn't any more confidence in Judd than the Canadian southpaw has in himself, for the "Skipper" had Clem Hausmann warming up in the "bull pen" while Oscar was testing his arm in front of the grandstand . . . Judd must have an "in" with someone in the Red Sox organization or he would have been suspended without pay until he was ready to pitch.

But he hasn't "buffaloed" his mates for one of them remarked when they saw the Canadian taking batting practise with the regulars, "Oh, Judd is going to open his season" . . . Judd was back under the blanket in less than three innings, during which he walked six Indians and gave up three runs.



THE HITTING FOOL—He may not be leading the league like his teammate Doerr, but this first baseman, George Metkovitch, has been slaughtering that ball for the past week.

INDIANS PULL BONER

And, but for very dumb work on the part of the Indians, the Red Sox would have been hopelessly out of the running when Clem Hausmann came in as the relief hurler . . . With one out, men on first and second and Lou Boudreau up in the opening frame, someone got on a double steal and Hoag was nailed going into third . . . Judging from the disgust registered by Boudreau, either Coach Del Baker or Coach Burt Shotton flashed the steal sign.

Unless the runners took over and went on their way . . . Hal Wagner's two bagger that scored Bob Johnson with the first Red Sox run in the second was a beautifully placed hit . . . It was an out side pitch and Wagner reached out and slapped it down the left field line.

Incidentally, the Indians almost undressed Hal Wagner with foul tips during the two and two-thirds frames Judd was on the hilltop . . . Jim Tabor came up with grand plays on Pat Seerey and Lou Boudreau in the fifth . . . Both balls were well stroked . . . Clem Hausmann did a nice job of relief pitching in three of the five innings he was in action . . . He tired a little in the sixth and was nicked for three hits and a run in the eighth, when the Indians should have won the game, but for some more weird base running on the part of Buddy Rosar, who was nailed at the plate.

WAGNER AWAITED BUDDY

At that play, Rosar attempted to give Wagner the "business" but instead of being on the delivering end Rosar was the receiver . . . Wagner saw that Rosar was going to give it to him, set himself and flattened the Indian catcher . . . From the second through the seventh rounds, the Red Sox made only two hits off Jim Bagby and only one man reached second base . . . But, they applied the pressure in the 8th and pushed across two to tie the count . . . George Woods pitched the 9th turning Cleveland back in order and then "Red" Barrett, who pitched the last four innings of the first game of Sunday's twin bill, took over.

"Skeeter" Newsome came up with a great play on Hoag in the 9th, taking a high hopper on the pickup and getting his man . . . Cronin received letters from Dom Di Maggio and Charlie Wagner, who are in Australia . . . Sgt. Jack McCarthy, the former Red Sox club house boy, who returned from India, where he was with the U. S. Ferry Supply Command for more than two years, three weeks ago, will go back on active duty this week.

Jim Bagby's home run in the 11th was a high hanging curve, but Pat Seerey lied into a high fast ball for his circuit clout in the same round.

White Sox Bait For Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics took the season series edge over another American League club for the first time since 1941 last night when they defeated the Chicago White Sox for the 12th time this year.

The Sox were the victims in '41, too, when they lost 12 to the A's.

Torpedo, Top Row In $11,500 Stakes

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. Aug. 22 (AP)—Torpedo, owned by Sullivan and Mawhinney of Machias, Me., and Top Row, owned by C. A. Tassi of San Jose, Cal. are expected to battle it out in the $11,500 Ticonderoga stake which tops tonight's Grand Circuit card at the Saratoga raceway.

Torpedo won six straight races here earlier in the season. Top Row has three stake victories to his credit.

'Esky' Clark In New Berth

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Army will ship approximately 20 million dollars worth of athletic equipment overseas during 1944, it was revealed today by Lt. Col. Henry W. (Esky) Clark, former Harvard football star who recently was appointed head of the new athletic branch of the special services division.

Back from a tour of combat areas where he inspected sports facilities, Col. Clark outlined an expanded sports program which his branch is preparing for the service forces with the aid of a committee of sports experts.

This plan, leading to force, theater and armed forces championships in various sports, also will be offered to the ground and air forces and the various theater commanders.

"Since the beginning of the war about $20,000,000 worth of athletic and entertainment equipment—to use a round figure—has been shipped overseas," said Col. Clark, "more than double that amount will be sent this year. Athletic equipment makes up a little better than 50 per cent of the total.

"The GI's don't wait for the fighting to end," Clark said. "On Saipan they were watching movies when there still were Jap snipers around. I saw one little island in the Marshalls where there were eight softball and one hardball diamonds and one in the Aleutians has 40 softball fields. And I see they're already making good use of those stadiums Mussolini built in Italy."

Cafego Ready To Go for Yanks

George Cafego, Tennessee's All-America, who contributed so much rich history to college football a few years ago, is ready to show his wares to the New England football public. The dashing George is a member of Ted Collins' Boston Yanks pro football team and cash customers will see a whirling dervish in action when this fireball cuts loose.

Considerable has been said and said about the condition of Cafego's knees. Some experts had him on two canes and some crackes had him carrying crutches. This is not so, Dashing George is the same colorful gent who carried Tennessee to so many victories by his brilliant running game.
